NEW MINISTERS

ASSUME DUTIES

The three new ministers appointed by Prime Minister Bennett to cabinet positions have taken office. Hon. J. F. Lawson is head of the department of National Revenue, succeeding Hon. R. C. Matthews, who retired because of ill health.

Hon. W. G. Ernst, Minister of Fisheries, was also on the job.

Hon. G. R. Geary, Minister of Justice, turned up promptly to assume the mantle of Hon. Hugh Guthrie. The latter took over his duties as chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Mrs. Charles Evans and family and Miss Nellie Corbett, of Hillcrest, accompanied by Earl and Dorothy McDonald, returned to Bellevue from a three weeks' vacation in Calgary and Banff. The return trip was made via the Windermere route.

THE PINK MAYOR

We spent several hours in Blairmore, and met Mayor Knight, who has established notoriety as a Red, but is not quite as Red as he is painted. He seems rather more pink. He is an affable gentleman, witty and companionable. He is an Englishman and seems very popular.—Charles Clark in the High River Times.

Deputy returning officers for Coleman appointed for the Dominion election in October are R. F. Barnes, M. W. Cooke, Walter Bobbitt, and another to be named.

At the request of union representatives, mines were granted a holiday at Blairmore and Bellevue on Tuesday, in honor of the visit of Tim Buck, secretary of the Communist Party of Canada, who addressed a big rally at Bellevue in the evening in behalf of Harvey Murphy.

George E. Cruickshank, M. L. A. for the past five years, who is an independent candidate for re-election in this constituency. Mr. Cruickshank has addressed meetings in all parts of the Rocky Mountain constituency and hopes to be returned. Mr. Cruickshank has served the constituency well during his term of office.

W. R. Howson, Liberal provincial leader, who has carried on an aggressive programme to present the policies of his party to the people of Alberta, and who faces the electorate today. Mr. Donald J. MacNeil, however is contesting Rocky Mountain.

Ernest O. Duke, Social Credit candidate for Rocky Mountain riding, who expects to win at the polls today. The blar on the forehead does not represent a bullet mark, but was a damage made by a printing press.

PASS FLYING CLUB

TAKES FINE FLIGHT

The Crows' Nest Pass Flying Club has done much to get a number of Blairmore residents air-minded, so when the huge tri-motor, all metal Ford plane of the United Air Transport Aircraft Co., of Edmonton, with "Pat" Sutherland at the controls, landed at the Crows' Nest Pass airfield at Lee Lake last Friday, it soon became the object of interest of all flying students in The Pass.

They were taken all through the plane by L. B. Gibson, instructor at the Pass Flying School classes, and gained much first-hand knowledge of the operating mechanism of this monster bird of the air. The various controls, gauges, meters and other instruments were fully explained as to their use and operation by Instructor Gibson.

Saturday evening ten Blairmore boys, namely John Chala, J. V. McDougall, Gaston Bazille, Alphonse Frerot, Joe Uhrin, George Maniquet, Maurice Maniquet, Louis Pozzi, A. Barattelli and Joe Leskosky made up a flying party and took a flight of a half hour's duration and viewed the towns of Blairmore, Bellevue, Hillcrest and Frank from 2,400 feet up. The trip was much enjoyed. The plane, in spite of its huge size and weight, climbed fast. At the take-off it roared down the field for about 100 yards, when its massive wings took it gently off the ground, and within a few seconds was one thousand feet in the air, and then gradually climbed another 1,500 feet.

From this height all the boys were feeling highly pleased with the flight until someone remarked that they were now passing over the Frank slide, which looked like a handful of pebbles scattered across a white string. The Lee and Passburg lakes from 2,400 feet looked like small mud puddles, and while over the foothills of Turtle Mountain the boys discovered trails and roadways that they never knew existed and immediately took upon themselves the duty of looking for the auto and robbers figuring in the Macleod liquor store robbery, and who escaped the R.C.M.P. near Burmis when they crashed into the police car. The search was without reward.—Blairmore correspondence in Lethbridge Herald.

Lieut.-Colonel F. M. Steel, of Calgary, formerly of Pincher Creek, was taken ill at Cameron Bay in the north, and was flown by airplane to hospital in Edmonton.

The little hamlet of Estonia, Saskatchewan, with 234 population, boasts a municipal tax rate of only five mills, gravelled streets, cement sidewalks, a free municipal skating rink and no bonded debt.

George McInnes, representing the Mid-West Paper Co., Calgary, was a visitor in town today.

G. G. Coote, M.P. for Macleod federal constituency, who has been unanimously slated for nomination for re-election by the U.F.A. in the forthcoming campaign.

Immediately following a Social Credit meeting at Richdale, Alberta, the community hall trustees held a meeting and passed the following resolution: That the following charges for the use of the hall be made—any active society in Richdale, $2.50; any campaign meeting, other than Social Credit, $5.00; Social Credit meeting in summer 25 cents, in winter 75 cents. The U.F.A. candidate refused to hold a meeting in that hall when shown the new scale of charges.

A very pleasing event took place in Colombo's cabaret on Tuesday evening, when about thirty friends gathered to do honor to Miss Judith Kathleen Tompkins, a bride-elect, who was presented with a beautiful silver tray. The tray was brought in by Kay Frances Lillie and Buddy Harper as bride and groom, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. Following the presentation, games were played and a dainty luncheon was served. The party broke up near midnight to the singing of "She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

IMPERIAL OIL DIS- TRIBUTE SHARES

Distribution of 205,528 shares of Imperial Oil Ltd., with a market value exceeding $3,000,000, has been made within the past few days to 3,857 of the company's employees in Canada. Some of these shares went into practically every community in the country and a list of the occupations of the employees who received them would be almost endless.

In Manitoba 3,450 shares were distributed, in Saskatchewan 13,170, and in Alberta 21,849.

The employees acquired this stock over a period of three years through the company's Fourth Co-Operative Investment Trust. Due to the company's contribution and appreciation in the value of the stock the employees actually paid only about $1,600, 000.

The town's gravel-pit elevator is now ready for operation.

England's Letter Post System

Was Started 300 Years Ago By Charles First

There was a letter post system in England 300 years ago and the proof of it is a document now being specially exhibited at the British Museum.

It is a proclamation issued by Charles I. to one Thomas Withering, authorizing him to "settle a running post" between London and the principal towns in the most important counties.

This document states Withering is to provide messengers to ride between London and the towns set forth, who "must return within five days." They are to collect letters left at post-houses along the various routes, and to "go out as near as possible they can" to their destination.

It was to cost twopenny to send a letter under 80 miles, fourpenny between 80 and 140 miles, and fivepenny over 140 miles, while the charge to Scotland was eightpenny.

Allan Ross was then only 22, but he had the ability to work hard, a brilliant imagination, and the courage to grasp an opportunity when perceived. To-day Mr. Ross is still a young man at the head of a business that stretches from coast to coast.

A Gold Snapper As Latest Aid For Miners

A gold snapper, or "amelle," its way was put forward recently as the latest word for wealth seekers in the southwestern treasure belt of Weatherford, Okla.

The new "what's-it" is from the hand of hopeful Luciel Tupper, a Chester country farmer, whose interest in hidden riches has turned him scientist. His new invention is designed to guide its master by "antifing" the faintest gases given off by precious metals.

Such odors, mechanically harnessed, would be transformed into buzzes heard through ear phones worn by the searcher.

Soon Tupper expects to seek out the Ghost Mound and the Devil's Canyon treasures, reportedly buried by the Spanish conquistadores.

Rudyard Kipling Talks To Canadian Graduates On Visit to England

Rudyard Kipling, shyest of Britain's celebrities, broke a vow about speechmaking to tell a group of Canadian boys and girls that "England is as much a possession of Canada as Canada is a possession of England."

Kipling had consented to face the audience of 84 graduates of Canadian secondary schools at St. Winifred's school, Eastbourne, on condition he need not make a speech. The Canadian boys and girls, visiting England for six weeks under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League, quite won his heart, however, and he did make a brief address.

German Doctor Notified Friends He Was In Prison

Announcement cards were issued recently informing the friends of Dr. Herbert Mueller-Guttenbrunn that he had been sentenced to prison for three and a half months and that during that period he could not be circulating among his favorite coffee houses. The doctor took the view that announcement cards were used for weddings, births, and such, so he would not fail terms. He sent them to friends in Austria and abroad. He was convicted of "attempting publicity to degrade the Austrian regime."

Has Uncanny Powers

Man Who Produces Beetles From Air Puzzles Scientists

That he can produce beetles, birds, flowers, snakes and liquids from the air is the claim of Lajos Pap, a Hungarian carpenter, whose uncanny powers have puzzled doctors and scientists throughout Europe. He recently underwent a series of experiments at the International Institute for Physical Research, South Kensington, England. "When in a trance I can produce living and limning things," he said. "Many of the animals I have produced from the air are living in various museums in Budapest." Dr. Nandor Fodor, honorary research officer of the Institute, said he had seen Lajos Pap produce 32 live beetles from the air at a meeting in Budapest. "He has to be in a complete trance to do it. He produces the beetles by matching at the air. Every precaution was taken to see that there was not the slightest possibility of the exhibit being a fake."

Scientists Hope For Discovery Through Treating Common Salt

Two scientists carried two bags of common table salt to the top of Mount Evans in the hope of making a discovery which may result in the replacement of costly radium in many medical treatments.

The scientists, Dr. J. C. Stearns, Denver University, and Dr. J. K. Froman, of McGill University, hope to induce radio-activity into the salt. They predicted before they left that if the experiment succeeds, salt treated in this fashion may take the place of radium in medicine.

PATTERN 5011

As cute an assortment of cuddle toys as ever gladdened a child's heart! They're easy to make, too, for each animal requires but two identical pieces of material, which you sew together and stuff with cotton. Of course, the chicken's wing, and bear's jacket are extra, made with just a scrap of contrasting material. Will youngsters not love to own one of these? They're just the thing for that bazaar, too, or for a casual gift to the baby of the house. Gay calico, or other prints, cotton broadcloth, velveteen or saten, are possibilities. Then watch the young admirers gather around.

In pattern 5011 you will find a pattern of the four toys shown; detailed instructions and yardage requirements for making them. To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (cash preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 25

BARNABAS
(A Consecrated Man Of Means)

Golden text: He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit, and of faith. Acts 11:24.
Lesson: Acts 4:36, 37; 9:26-30; 11:23-25; 13:1 to 15, 41; Galatians 2:13.
Devotional reading: Psalm 99:1-10.

Explanations And Comments

A Consecrated Man Of Means, Acts 4:36, 37. One of the members of the early Christian Church of Jerusalem was a man named Barnabas, whose family had been natives of the island of Cyprus. In those days he who had given to those who had not, without grudging, as Aristides wrote to the Emperor Hadrian. Barnabas was a very generous man. When he sold a field, he brought the whole sum and gave it to the apostles to spend for the poor.

A Brethrenly Man, Acts 11:24. Many who were driven out of Jerusalem because of the persecution of the Jews, fled to the city of Antioch. There they were joined by Paul, who had been preaching only to the Jews. However, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, Grecian Jews who had lived in Greek areas and because of their cosmopolitan experience entertained fewer scruples about mixing with Gentiles than did the Jews of Palestine. When they came to Antioch preached to the Greeks, or Gentiles, also. God was with them in this new movement, and great numbers of the Greeks believed their message.

The Church at Jerusalem was alarmed over this new departure of preaching to the Gentiles, and they sent out men to investigate. One of the men sent was Barnabas, who was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith.

He began with the surface—He was a good man; and then came a little deeper—full of the Holy Spirit: that is why he was a good man. And then it goes deeper still—and of faith; and that is why he was full of the Holy Spirit. One has sometimes seen anatomical models, where one lifts off the top piece that represents skin and flesh, and lays bare the deeper-seated organs. Luke's analysis here is somewhat like these. It gives a vertical section, that discloses the heart of the matter, the underlying soul which nourishes these. (Alexander MacLaren).

Being a good man, Barnabas rejoiced when he saw the genuineness of the Christian character of the Gentiles. A writer thinks that the tribute to Barnabas in verse 24 is recorded if nothing short of characteristics could have sufficiently emancipated him from the narrow-sighted view which he had refused to discern the good in such a revolutionary proceeding.

Pitchblende From North

Winter Shipments Of Ore To Be Sent Out By Aeroplane

Eighty tons of concentrated pitchblende ore from the Eldorado Gold Mine's property at Labine Point, Great Bear Lake, arrived at Fort Fitzgerald, Alta., by portage recently.

The cargo, valued at $750,000, was shipped south on the river steamer "Northern Prospector." Full precautions to safeguard the radium-bearing ore are being taken. It was transferred to the "Mabel D. C." and carried to Waterways and shipped by train to the Port Hope, Ont., refinery of the Eldorado company.

This winter further shipments will be made by aeroplane, Gilbert Labine, president of the company, revealed in Edmonton recently.

A commanding officer has received an amusing application from a native of Nigeria anxious to exchange railway for military service. "I am a man," wrote the applicant, "of approximately age of 25 years old and now to the maturity of performing my duties, bravely, diligently, obediently, honestly, politely, and fidelity as a soldier; and to fight for my country and king. . . . I can pass medical examination as easily as pepper soup, as I am quite sure of my being well both in health and physique. . . . Don't miss a man like me."

Held Feast At Border

German And Polish Wedding Guests Watched By Guards

Forbidden to cross the border to attend a wedding in the Polish village of Samegen, close to the German frontier, German friends suspected that the wedding feast to be held at the boundary line. The guests assembled and toasted the bride and groom from a table end of which was in Poland and the other in Germany. The merry-makers enjoyed themselves for hours under the watchful eyes of the frontier guards.

Little Journeys In Science

WOOD FLOUR

(By Gordon H. Goss, M.A.)

Products of the forest have always been of great use to man but in recent years science has discovered many new uses for wood, in the form of a very fine powder, known as wood flour.

The incense industry has been a large consumer of wood flour. It is used chiefly in the incense trade and also in smaller quantities mixed with cork flour in the production of the battlement and printed types. In the manufacture of explosives, wood flour has its greatest usefulness as a constituent of dynamite. The sensitiveness of liquid nitroglycerine, which is the explosive material in dynamite, is greatly reduced when diluted with some powdered substance such as wood flour.

The phenol resins, when used with wood flour as a filler, may be moulded into many useful and every-day articles. These resins, which are products as telephone, radio and automobile parts and electrical equipment. Dr. Leo Haeckel was the scientist who did a great deal of the earlier work which led to this most standard use of wood flour with the phenol resins. For this purpose, the finest grades of wood flour are required. The wood flour, after being thoroughly mixed with the resin, is coloured matter and other substances, produces a plastic mass. When this material has been dried it is ground to a fine powder and moulded under pressure and heat. Wood flour is used with many different binding materials, such as in picture-frames, bowling balls, furniture parts, records and dolls.

Among the various uses of wood flour not mentioned in detail might be included composition flooring, drying and polishing aluminium cans and metal products. For fire cleaning, and in hand soaps.

Various specialties, such as spools, ball bearings, wheels, and nuts, recently, an insulating brick, are being made from wood flour.

Wool Imports

Largest Amount Used In Canada Comes From New Zealand

Canada is a heavy importer of wool, and the largest source of the wool, the cloth that makes our clothes that makes our blankets, rugs and a wide range of necessities. Most of that wool is from the fleece of the sheep and the two great sheep countries of the Empire are Australia and New Zealand. In fact, the Antipodes is the largest sheep emporium of the world.

Last year we imported 15 million pounds of raw wool, that is, sheep wool. We got about seven million, or nearly half of the total, from New Zealand, and the rest from the United Kingdom, and over three million from Australia. Besides this, we got 11 million pounds of noils and worsted looms mainly from the United Kingdom. No doubt, however, most of the wool imported from Great Britain came from originally from other Empire countries, such as the two mentioned, as well as India, British South Africa and the Irish Free State.

It is surprising to find that most of our wool comes from New Zealand, rather than from Australia, for although New Zealand has great flocks of sheep totalling over 30 million head, Australia, the greatest sheep country in the world, has four times that number.

Canada is by no means a sheep country, with the few sheep raised, the chances are overwhelming that the cloth we wear is made of wool that came from the other side of the world.

Value Of Parasites

Striking Testimony Of Their Usefulness Comes From Australia

The use of parasites in eradicating insect pests or unwanted plant life is spreading and even Canada now possesses its entomological laboratory where imported insects are bred to prey upon others with destructive instincts.

Striking testimony to the value of parasites comes from Australia where a valuable pest has been introduced. A single plant of prickly pear in the year 1840. Before 1930 there were 50,000,000 acres of Australian soil covered by prickly pear. All sorts of measures to stop its spread were tried and failed. Recently, however, a little insect known as Cactoblastus has been introduced. This feeds upon the pear and destroys it, but harms nothing else. The insect is doing what man could not do and within four or five years of its introduction eight and one-half million acres of infested land have been reclaimed.

Having made such a fine job of eradicating the prickly pear, Australians will probably pray for the arrival of some parasite to do likewise with that other national pest, the rabbit.—Brookville Recorder and Times.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costumes for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative, who offers her the use of a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. They are met at the railway station by Columbine Nelson, who in turn introduces Mark and Matthew Adams, two neighbors of Aunt Columbine, and the party set out for Pine Ridge, which village seems dismay to both Nancy and Jack because of its dilapidated appearance and general lack of poverty. Nancy and Jack are shocked to find the room they are to occupy, and both the young people consider the furniture and decorations hateful and contrasting the present quarters with their luxurious home in Boston, wonder if they can endure the change for any length of time. Aunt Columbine tells why she wrote the letter to them, and relates some of her early experiences at Pine Ridge of hostile Indians and forest fires, of her father's hunt for gold and her mother's splendid spirit, but frail body, which could not endure the strain of pioneer life.

Nancy met out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and misses the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adams tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken down, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems good, and one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Now Go On With The Story

The early winter darkness had fallen when they returned. Nancy had had "a wonderful day." She had lunched at a delightful tea room, done her own Christmas errands, Aurora's, Cousin Columbine's, and even Matthew Adams'. For when she met her escort at the appointed time, the young man confessed that he had delayed his own holiday shopping in order to profit by her advice. Would that Meredith, the cousin who was in college at Denver and was to spend her vacation at the ranch, approve of silk stockings as a gift? And what size must he get? What color? Darned if he knew! And would Nancy look at a luncheon set he wanted for his mother, and see if it were really any good?

So Nancy started her parcels in the old car, and fared forth again, this time with Matthew. But it was all fun, and after weeks of comparative solitude in Pine Ridge, the Christmas crowds seemed thrilling. Their errands accomplished, Matt took her to a place where they had hot chocolate and delicious sandwiches; and on the way home he drove with exceeding slowness, even after the dangerous pass was left behind.

The stars were out when they bumped the railroad track and started off the straggling familiar street. Dunk hid his shabbiness, and Nancy turned as she always did, for that matchless view of the white-crested Peak.

"Well, we're home," she said, and added, laughing: "That sounds exactly like Aurora, doesn't it? I've had a great time, Matt, and I do appreciate your letting me tag along. If your cousin's stockings don't turn out the right size, the saleswoman said they could be changed. I know your mother will love the linen—one you would; and—Will you look at that?" They were approaching the Nelson "mansion." "There's a light in the parlor! Is the president, or governor or some one calling on Cousin Columbine? Why? (as they turned in the gate), There are lights everywhere! What can be happening?"

She looked up, at Matthew this time. There was, Nancy saw, an inscrutable smile curving his nice mouth, but all he said was: "Let's go in and see."

CHAPTER XIV.

Nancy was never to forget the moments that followed. As Matthew drew up before the house he blew three sharp blasts on the automobile horn, and said: "That's better! I'll tug 'em in just a minute." Indeed, Nancy was so puzzled by the amazing illumination that she failed to see that they were stopping at the seldom-used front door, and still dazed, and Mark (despite their regarding his apparel) on the other hand, who called "the sacred parlor."

For a moment she just stood still, thinking the room was full of people until she realized that it wasn't a crowd at all, only the parlor, beautifully gilded with Christmas greens looked different. A second glance disclosed the company: Cousin Columbine in her scarlet middy and laced boots; a little woman with soft brown hair, and eyes shining with merriment, who must be "Auntie," as her sister called the tall, blue-silkened man, who was her husband, looking, it seemed to Nancy, very little older than his. Then came Juanita Tubbs—Juanita in a new dress, gown of such dazzling, variegated colors that Nancy almost blinched when she looked straight at it and was thankful that Mary Taylor was wearing white. Mark ("tall dressed up in his Sunday best," thought Nancy) towered behind her, wearing a slender, blue ("The cousin from Denver"); while Jack, spick and span in his blue serge suit, and another boy ("The last of the Apostles, of course") stood just behind him; and as a climax came Aurora attired in a gown of emerald taffeta with silken braids on the skirt and the inevitable apron tied snugly around her ample waistline.

No wonder Nancy stared! She stared so long that everybody shouted with laughter; and it was Cousin Columbine who explained: "It's only your debut child. Don't look so dazed!"

"Your debut, staged, in a different setting," smiled Eve Adams, and coming forward kissed Nancy on the cheek. "Welcome to Pine Ridge society, my dear! I really think we gave you a surprise."

"And if she don't run straight upstairs and put on that party dress I took out of her closet," spoke up Aurora, "my company dinner'll be in ruins. Matthew Adams, you'll find your good clothes in Miss Columbine's bedroom, and don't be slow as cold molasses, either."

"Did-did you know this all the time?" cried Nancy, wheeling on Matthew.

"It's sort of suspected it," he confessed. "I mean—"

"Oh, come on, Matt," broke in the young Mark impatiently. "Time flies; and you've got to beautify yourself in honor of our debutante!"

"... And will you believe it?" Nancy broke home next day, "when I came down, there stood Matthew Adams looking absolutely stunning in a well-cut tux! I almost passed out at sight of him!"

Probably Matthew felt somewhat the same at the same moment, for Nancy herself, in orchid chiffon and silver-shod, was (according to Mark Adams) "too easy to look at for any fellow's peace of mind."

"You'll have to wait next to Matthew, Miss Columbine," he said usefully. "The rest of us look like black cowboys. It'd have wiped that tux myself, Matt, if it had been two sizes bigger. It's the only Tuxedo in Pine Ridge, Nancy—a relief of campus days which transforms my cowhide brother into a 'glorious Apollo' as you can see for yourself. And—"

"Shut up!" commanded Matthew, blushing, while his mother slipped a protecting arm through his, and Aurora announced abruptly:

"Come on! Get seated while I dish up the potato. Sakes alive, Nancy, you look like those pictures in the love magazines. And you too, Matthew Adams! That white shirt's awful becoming. Everything's ready, and all those peaky candles lighted. Come on in!"

"I never saw a prettier table," wrote Nancy to her mother. "Even that awful green-brown china was inconspicuous, because it was the green-bronze leaves of the kinikinnick with which Mrs. Adams had decorated everything. It's the most graceful vine, with red berries like the partridge berries we have at home. There was a big brass bowl of it in the centre of the table, and long sprays laid at intervals on the white cloth—a cloth bought in Denver in 1901, please understand, and used only on state occasions!"

"The terrible lamp was banished, and four tall brass candelsticks held red candles while a big red candle stood at every place. Even Cousin Columbine's scarlet middy seemed made for the occasion. She looked very distinguished at the head of the table; and they put me at the foot with 'Father Adam' on one side, and Mark (despite their regarding his apparel) on the other hand."

"And did we eat? As Jack remarked, Aurora had 'done her darndest,' and the old-fashioned Christmas dinner was superb. Once it struck me as funny that Juanita was among the guests while her mother waited on us; but Cousin Columbine says that Aurora never had recovered if her daughter had been left out. Mr. Adams made place cards; and the minute I saw his beautiful lettering I knew who was going to paint the sign for my Aladdin Library! But to get back to my debut—"

The account of this party grew to the longest letter that Nancy Nelson ever wrote, which she sent with a request to forward it to Aunt Judy, "... for I can never write all this again. I wonder what those wild Spear girls will think of my debut. Mother! Not much like what we planned, was it? But believe me, it was a grand party just the same."

It is probable that all those present agreed with the girl. When at last they arose from the table and sought the gaily-festooned parlor, each one added his bit to the entertainment. There were charades; old-time songs with melodious accompaniment (a melodion brought from Chicago in 1881, Miss Columbine assured them proudly); as well as strictly modern "croonings" rendered by Mark; while Matthew left Nancy breathless for the second time, when, as the evening, with the simple aid of Juanita's tam o' shanter and a plaid scarf, he was transformed into a very creditable Harry Lauder, and forgetting his shyness, sang "I Love a Lassie" in a delightful baritone.

Not until then did Aurora remove her apron.

"I'm going to recite 'Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night,'" she told the company. "I said that place at a church social when Tubbs was courting me, and there wasn't a dry eye in the place when I got through."

This manner brought such a deafening round of applause that the good woman beamed with pleasure.

"It's your turn now, Miss Columbine," she said. "You tell us a story about old times to calm us down."

Cousin Columbine smiled as Matt drew her chair in the centre of the group. "I'm going to tell you about my first Christmas tree," she began. "I couldn't have been more than three or four years old, and I remember I was alone as we so often were in those days when Father was off adventuring. We were expecting him home, of course; but on Christmas Eve when he did not come, Mother went out and cut a tiny Christmas tree for herself, and set it up in the corner of our one room."

"I realize now that for months, possibly longer, she had been saving every bright scrap of ribbon, or calico, or paper that came her way—saving them to make a merry Christmas for her baby; and after I was sound asleep she must have spent those lonely hours trying to make the little fir tree gay and pretty, while she listened tensely for Father's returning step and the longed-for whistle (it was, she told me, like the song of the hermit thrushes in New Hampshire), with which he always heralded his arrival.

"Well, no whistle came that night, and at last, bitterly disappointed, fearful for his safety as she always was at any untoward delay, my mother crept into the big bed and dropped asleep. No doubt her pillow was wet with tears; but things looked brighter in the morning. It was a beautiful day. A flurry of snow had fallen in the night. Every bush and tree was white and frosted, which made her think of Christmases in old New England; and I, of course, was twittering with excitement. She could scarcely persuade me to eat breakfast I was so eager to examine my first ornament and open the two parcels tied to the topmost branch of my small tree.

"At last she pushed aside our soiled dishes. This morning they could wait, for after all, Christmas comes but once a year. She drew a chair up to the little tree; took me on her lap and put into my hands one of the gifts she had prepared so lovingly. You see, she had contrived twin dolls out of homemade china—painted their faces very cleverly, and dressed them in scarlet flannel from an old petticoat, wrapping them separately so that I would have more to open."

For a moment Miss Columbine sat silent, as if thinking; then she went on: "I do not, of course, remember every detail of this story; but it was told so often that the scene rises before me very clearly. I was so enthralled with my doll that I forgot to be curious about the other package; and as I sat there on my mother's knee, caressing this new baby, something, possibly the sense of being watched, drew her eyes away from me for a moment, and at what she saw her poor heart almost stopped beating. For there was a face at the window, peering in at us—the face of an Indian!"

"My soul!" breathed Aurora in an awed whisper; and as if not hearing her, Miss Columbine continued: "Perhaps you young folks can't realize what that meant to a pioneer woman alone in her cabin save for a little child. Instinctively her glance rose to the rife lying ready for use on a shelf behind the stove—wasn't it the tree that emblem of Peace on earth, good will to men? Just as the door latch rattled ominously, she came to a decision."

Altar Brought From France

Hidden In Woods When English Captured French Fort

In the Church of the Sacred Heart at Red Island, a few miles from Sydney, Nova Scotia, is a storied altar that was brought from France in 1691. It was placed in the French fort at St. Peters, or Port Toulouse as it was then called. When the English captured the fort the altar was carried off by the French to the woods, where it was hidden.

Later it was found by the Indians, who jealously guarded it until a priest stationed at Red Island finally persuaded them to allow him to remove it to the Roman Catholic church.

Quality In Binder Twine

Inspection In Recent Years Has Shown Steady Improvement

The binder twine being used to harvest Canada's grain crop comes from a number of sources. Canadian binder twine supplies a large part of the domestic demand and considerable quantities made in the Dominion are exported to other countries, but binder twine from several other countries has come to share the Canadian market. The greater part of the importations into Canada are from Great Britain, Ireland and Holland and in recent years small quantities have also been received from Belgium and Germany.

The law requires that each ball of binder twine sold in Canada shall bear a label stating the number of feet of twine per pound in the ball, whether 500, 550, 600 or 650 feet. This is a case where quantity is the estimate of quality. Inspectors of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Seed Branch inspect Canadian made twine at the places of manufacture and imported twine at storage warehouses, and by a system of measurement and calculation determine the actual number of feet per pound as compared with the length guaranteed.

Results of binder twine inspection in recent years have shown a steady improvement in both Canadian and imported twine used in Canada. More than three hundred samples were taken of the twine distributed in Canada in 1934, the tests of which showed that 47 per cent. had actually more twine to the pound than was guaranteed and 14 per cent. had exactly the length guaranteed. The remainder of the samples had some shortage which was inconsiderable in most cases and only 2.5 per cent. had a shortage of over 5 per cent., which is the limit of shortage allowed by law.

Tensile strength in binder twine is not subject to legal control. Inspectors, however, give some attention to this factor but it is now seldom that a sample is found in which the tensile strength is too weak for ordinary grain binding.

Find Ancient Fossil

May Have Roamed Seas Thirty Million Years Ago

A large fossil found in lower cretaceous formations on the west coast of Vancouver Island may be part of an Ichthyosaurus that roamed the seas some 30,000,000 years ago, in the opinion of Professor M. F. Bancroft, head of the geological survey party which salvaged the fossil.

The fossil was found encased in rocks in front of the home of G. F. Smith, who said the waves had laid it bare some time within the last two years. Rev. Anthony Terhaar of Victoria, B.C., assisted Professor Bancroft in recovering the fossil.

Another Modern Step

Tahiti Is Waiting For Opening Of Beauty Parlor

Natives of Papeete, Tahiti, are awaiting civilization's final conquest. In a steady procession have come automobiles, electric lights, filling stations, radios, electric refrigerators, telephones and movies. But it was only recently that ground was broken for a beauty parlor. Already a few girls have crimson finger and toe nails, plucked eyebrows, mascaraed eyelashes and permanent waves, much to the consternation of the native fathers.

Science has been able to create an electric spark that, during its brief life of one one-hundredth-thousandth of a second, is brighter than the sun.

"We never hear our own voices exactly as other people hear them," states a scientist. Probably that explains why so many of us sing.

Missionaries Use 'Plane

Only Way To Reach Tribes In New Guinea

The first air-missionaries of the Church of England are starting work in New Guinea.

They are going to tackle one of the most difficult and dangerous jobs imaginable, that of taking the Gospel to 40,000 tribesmen living in virgin and mountainous country to which the air forces are the only access and where the natives are very wild.

Six white men, with a staff of native teachers, will undertake the work, which, it is estimated, will cost $25,000 to establish and $10,000 a year to maintain. Their base will be at the Wau Goldfields, now rapidly developing, and all supplies will come up by air from the coast.

Pilot Has Lucky Landing

A monoplane made a forced landing at Coney Island, New York, recently, in so small a space it had to be dismantled for removal. The ship, experiencing motor trouble, circled Manhattan Beach before it alighted safely to earth, sitting snugly in a chink in a block of 2,000 parked automobiles.

W. J. BARTLETT, PUBLISHER

Blairmore, Alta., Thur., Aug. 22, 1935

The Leithridge Herald has been informed that, in apprehension of the coming in of Social Credit, there have been numerous talks of Alberta securities and withdrawal of bank deposits transferred to banks outside the province.

Krivsky, the butcher, was rather surprised when a slim young woman entered the shop and asked for twenty-five pounds of beef. All the same, he cut off the斤 and put it on the scales. "Will you take it with you?" he asked. "Oh," she murmured, "flushing prettily, 'I don't want to buy it. You see, the doctor said I had lost twenty-five pounds, and I wanted to see what it looked like in a lump."

A certain portion of the Red-demon believe (or profess to believe) in cutting out the middle man; yet we know of town "printing" jobs that were passed through the hands of "mimeograph" cutouts. In other words, not a cent was spent in the interest of the town of Blairmore for the commission to that outfit. We, in future, in running across an instance of that kind, intend to attach a label thereto, worded: "This job was printed out of Blairmore, and could have been PRINTED in Blairmore at a saving to the ratepayers." We are in the printing business, and there isn't money enough on earth to get us to quote anybody on earth on a mimeograph or typewritten job. Likewise, if we were in the butcher business, there's no money could influence us to quote on a hair-cut or shave.

Perhaps we do raze the plumber unnecessarily upon occasion. Wilbur W. Hindley, who conducts a column in the Spokesman-Review thinks so. He says: "Have we been maligning the plumbers all these years? How we libeled an ancient and honorable occupation with our plumbing jokes? Perhaps so. We had an emergency plumbing job the other day—most plumbing jobs are emergencies. The plumber arrived with more tools than he needed and with more material than he needed and did the job in less than two hours, while the estimator said it would take most of a day. It looks like a good job and we are assured it will be permanent. Never again will we perpetrate the wheeze about the plumber who went to a picnic and had to go home for the wife and family he forgot to bring along."—Ex.

Asleep-at-the-wheel drivers cause 20,000 accidents a year, more than 50 per cent of them being collisions with other cars. The man who drives in Belgium does not need a license, but by buying ordinary plates assumes responsibility for the car, no matter who drives it. At a busy intersection in Minneapolis, police have a new traffic loudspeaker, through which careless pedestrians and motorists are admonished, publicly, for their sins. The Automobile Club of New York is circulating home movies, teaching children, graphically and quickly, the traffic facts of life. An audible warning device manufactured in England sounds an alarm when you drive above the speed limit. By telescoping it into a trunk-like compartment when not in use, an English firm has built a sleeping room to carry on the back of the car. A new windshield accessory has been invented. It is a small spray nozzle above the wiper and is said to be swell for removing ex-bugs, dust and road-spray.

Here and There

Fine percheron stallions, smartly groomed cavalry chargers of the mounted police, racing and racing horses and mounts trained in jumping and for the hunting field mingle at the village of Montshelo, P.E., on the north shore of the Ottawa, for the annual Seigley Club horse show this summer during August 15-18, Thursday to Sunday. A musical ride will be put on by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The event is under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General and Canadian and American society folk are expected in large numbers.

Enjoying a short stay at the Banff Springs Hotel on his way to taking up his post in London, His Excellency T. Masudaira, Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, stopped at an interviewer. "I prefer just to enjoy myself and to forget for a few hours that there are such serious duties than the contemplation of this lovely place."

Addressing a gathering of the Rotary Club of Victoria at the Empress Hotel, recently Premier Joseph A. Lyons, of Australia, pointed to the British Empire as a great force for peace and urged Canada to cultivate a more favorable trade with his own country. Last year, he said, Australia bought from Canada $18,000,000 worth of goods, while Canada bought from Australia only $5,000,000 worth.

The Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, New Brunswick, opened for the summer season at the end of June, and is now the centre of much holiday activity. Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Beasbrough were among the guests and the famous Katy's Cove bathing beach is again as in former years very popular with the children and the younger set.

With the increasing popularity of vacation trips on the Great Lakes, the Canadian Pacific has expanded its Great Lakes steamer service to include calls at Port Arthur, a weekend voyage to well as a cabaret. These calls have been enriched with folk songs, lantern slides, and a variety of other entertainment. The company has also been expanded to include an evening cruise on the lake. The schedule makes it possible to take an enjoyable vacation trip on the lake with overnight stops at both ends, Port Arthur and Port Weller.

The Maritimes are again this year attracted a large number of tourists from Canada and the United States. Across the Bay of Fundy there is a very popular steamer trip from Saint John to Digby where the Pines Hotel is located and for a month with its well known Lakeside Inn, there are regular sailings. Also the Miramichi Inn at Kenville is a first-class centre for trips to the famous Evangeline Country around Grand Pre.

August is the peak month at the Banff Springs Hotel when between August 25-31 golf amateurs of the world will compete in the historic Prince of Wales Trophy and the Willingdon Cup. The course, a mile above sea-level and set in the midst of some of the most glorious scenery on the continent, is the locale of the play.

Having his name attached to such a fool thing as this boulevard in Blairmore should never be the means of making Tim Buck feel cocky. Any one with any real respect for Tim would never think of the like.

A small boy of six years came home and announced that his class had learned a new song. "What was it?" asked the proud mother. "It was a carol," he said, "called 'Wild Sheep-herds Washed Their Flocks By Night.'"

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Miss Ranton, of Calgary, is spending a few weeks the guest of Miss Muri Smyth.

Misses Barbara and Clare Budgy returned on Tuesday from a holiday trip to Sylvan Lake.

Threshing, which had begun here, was held up by rain the early part of the week.

Miss Jessie Fraser, of Pincher Creek, was the guest of the Misses Porter for a few days this week.

Mr. Colvin and children, of Kimberley, B.C., have returned home from paying a few weeks' visit with their mother, Mrs. C. Latta.

Miss Ruth Fink, who has spent the past three weeks visiting her parents here, returned Tuesday night to Washington state, where she is employed as a hospital nurse.

Miss Flora McMillan, of Lethbridge, is spending a few weeks here with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMillan.

Miss Jean Morrison has gone to Calgary, where she will spend a few days visiting her aunt, Miss Edna Fulton.

Earl Cook, U.F.A. candidate for this constituency, addressed a meeting here on Monday evening.

Mr. R. O. Allison, Conservative candidate, staged a free dance in Wilson's hall on Tuesday night.

Miss Netta Swart is visiting with relatives in Lethbridge.

Miss Lola Army, of Arrowwood, is visiting friends in Cowley this week.

Rev. Roy Taylor, Social Credit candidate for the Pincher Creek constituency, addressed a meeting here on Saturday evening. He was assisted by Messrs. Bedard and Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Maisonneuve and family, who have resided in the Beaver Mines district for the past two years, have moved into town. The old postoffice was recently remodelled into an up-to-date butcher shop, and Mr. Maisonneuve began operations there the early part of this week.

Miss Helen Morrison has returned from an extended visit to Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bickell are moving to Hanna, where Mr. Bickell will engage in horse ranching.

Mrs. Jack Rhodes has returned from a visit with relatives in Hamilton, Ontario.

The Misses Morrison entertained the Cowley girls at an afternoon tea at their home on Wednesday of this week. Among those present were Misses Helen and Marion Morrison; Ila, Selma, Marie and Dorothy Wood; Barbara and Clare Bundy, Muriel Marlow, Dorothy Dwyer, Avis Horning, Edith and Sylvia Murphy, Sylvia Blackburn; Mrs. Muriel Peel and Mrs. Clara Cleland.

D. W. McLeod, who has spent the past 38 years in the Yukon, owing to the illness of his wife, who spent the past eleven years there with him, made the journey together by aeroplane from the Yukon to Vancouver last November, arrived here a month ago and are spending the summer visiting with relatives in the Porcupine Hills district. They relate thrilling tales of their experiences while living in the northland.

Charley Yagos, of Cowley, won the Kootenay championship for wild horse bucking contest at the stampeede held at Elk, B.C., the early part of the week. It is interesting to note that he brought this same prize back with him from there last year.

Austin Brown, of Edmonton, who was a recent guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Morrison, has returned home.

"How do you do, doctor."
Doctor: "Pardon me, but I don't remember meeting you before."
"Why, you were the one who took out my appendix."
Doc: "Oh, I beg your pardon. I didn't recognise you from the outside."

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodwin and son Bramwell are spending a few days at the Goodwin ranch, north of Burmis.

Miss Juanita Cranston, of Medicine Hat, is spending her holidays at the home of Mrs. J. D. McDonald.

Mr. Humble's dahlia patch was severely frosted on Wednesday night.

The Michel Miners' band was in attendance at the big Tim Buck meeting in the arena on Tuesday night.

Lunch for four was served at Bob Creek junction with the North Fork river on Tuesday evening, with Frank Bolesey, forty-year veteran of the district, as chef.

Through fear of Social Credit, the city of Cranbrook, British Columbia, recently converted $80,000 Alberta bonds into British Columbia bonds. It's a clear case of that much money at least leaving us.

Albertans are going to the polls today, and one of the most exciting contests in the history of the province is being waged. The Enterprise has not yet decided who will be the winner.

Both Liberals and Conservatives, as well as U.F.A. and Social Creditors, are believed to have entered the liquor store at Pincher Creek. Eat no charge of breaking and entering will be preferred.

INCREASE IN PRICE OF WHEAT IS PREDICTION

Montreal.—An increase in world wheat prices due to poor grain conditions in the Argentine was predicted here by Hon. R. L. Butler, premier of South Australia, on his arrival in Montreal on the Empress of Britain boat train from Quebec.

On his way back to Australia from London, where he attended meetings of the Empire Parliamentary Association, Premier Butler expressed interest in Canada's wheat crop, stating this country would probably get rid of its grain hold-over as it would undoubtedly be needed in the world.

"I can see," he said, "a general rise in price throughout the world owing to the Argentine situation. Conditions there have been very bad."

Discussing South Australian wheat, the prime minister said his country is now selling one-third of her crop to Japan and the market there was expected to increase shortly.

Premier Butler mildly criticized the Ottawa empire agreements. "They are written agreements," he declared, "and packs put down in black and white cannot work out satisfactorily in these days of ever-changing economic conditions."

He said he preferred "gentlemen's agreements," adding England had no written constitution and she can change things as conditions warrant."

Italy's Demand

Settlement Of Dispute Is Occupation Of Ethiopia By Italian Army

Paris.—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the tripartite conference, informed the British representative, Anthony Eden, that Italy's minimum demand for peaceful settlement of her dispute with Ethiopia was occupation of Ethiopia by the Italian army.

Aloisi said Premier Mussolini would require this condition in order to provide for the enforcement of economic privileges.

Italy, he said, would not be able to accept the British demand for economic concessions in Ethiopia unless Italy could make Ethiopia respect them. This, he said, would mean Italy must keep armed forces in the east African country.

Aloisi was inclined to call on Eden, it was learned, by Premier Laval after the Italian had refused to visit the British diplomat separately on the eve of the scheduled conference between delegates of the French, Italian and British governments.

After the meeting between the two, it was said in informed quarters their positions were as "irreconcilable" as before the meeting.

For People To Decide

Says Government Should Not Precipitate Canada In War

Saskatoon.—No government should precipitate Canada into a foreign war "unless it was clear that the people of the Dominion understood the situation and approved the action," Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction party leader, said here.

At his meeting Mr. Stevens was asked his view of Canada's participation in a foreign war. "It is an unthinkable thing that Canada should be drawn into another war," he replied. He added that it was hoped British statesmen who had been so successful in the past would succeed in averting any such catastrophe.

Heavy Damage From Fire

Victoria, B.C.—Fire in a sawdust pile had done $20,000 damage and was thought under control. Five dwellings have been destroyed. Flames broke out in the sawdust pile which has been smouldering for more than a year on the former site of the Shawinigan Lake Lumber Co., 25 miles north of here. The mill was destroyed a year ago by fire.

Fewer On Relief

Winnipeg.—Nearly 500 fewer families were on relief here Aug. 3 than on the same date last year, reports showed. The number of families listed on that date was 5,980, compared with 6,480 last year.

Catches Large Fish

Liverpool, N.S.—A 648-pound tuna lay in cold storage here while its conqueror—Lee Crandell of Ashway, N.L.—was hailed as king of the Nova Scotia fishing waters for 1934.

Water Development

Farmers Of Drouth Areas Show Great Interest In Plan

Ottawa.—Farmers and ranchers throughout the drouth area of the prairie provinces are showing keen interest in the water development committee which has been organized as part of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, according to Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, here.

The minister has returned from a trip to Western Canada. "The problem of supplying a more adequate and dependable water supply to farmers is a vital one on many farms and ranches," said Mr. Weir. "The demand for the assistance is evident by the fact that since the general program was first announced only a few months ago over 4,600 individuals have made application, either directly or through their municipalities or organizations. Applications are at present pouring into the office of the water development committee at Swift Current at an average rate of over 47 a day."

"Of the total applications received to date, nearly 350 are from Manitoba, over 2,800 from Saskatchewan, and somewhere around 1,400 from Alberta."

"Field work was started little more than three weeks ago with four field engineers and their helpers. Since then the field staff has been enlarged to 21 engineers, including field engineers and their assistants."

Islands Under Martial Law

Blockade In Force On Italian Possessions In Aegean Sea

London.—A Reuter's News Agency despatch from Athens says the Italian-owned Dodecanese islands in the Aegean sea have been placed under martial law with a severe blockade in force. The island of Leros has been converted into a fortress.

Visitors are not allowed to disembark at Leros, but are forced to go to Rhodes where all are subjected to a close scrutiny. Private houses on the islands have been requisitioned for care for the sick and wounded. All motor vessels also have been requisitioned.

The 13 islands of the Dodecanese are in the Aegean sea off the coast of Asia Minor. The islands are Rhodes, Cos, Kalymnos, Leros, Mytilene, Telos, Syme, Khalki, Astypalea, Karpathos, Kassos, Patmos and Lipsos.

Formerly the possession of Turkey, the islands were occupied by Italy during its war with Turkey in 1908. It evacuated them by terms of the first treaty of London in 1912. The secret treaty of London of 1915, which secured Italy's entrance into the World War gave Italy sovereignty over the islands.

Sovereignty was repeatedly disputed until, in 1920, the treaty of Sevres gave Italy full control.

Winter Feed Policy

Federal Government Will Continue It For Another Winter

Ottawa.—To encourage winter feeding of young cattle and lambs, the Dominion will continue for another winter season its feeder policy which was started last year, it was announced by Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir.

To be effective until Dec. 31, the Dominion will provide one-way transportation and travelling expenses to any Canadian farmer purchasing one or more carloads of young feeder cattle or lambs according to conditions laid down by the agricultural department.

Bank Buys Federal Notes

Ottawa.—On behalf of the minister of finance, it was announced from the Bank of Canada that tenders had been accepted for the full amount of $20,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills due Nov. 15. The average discount price of the accepted bids was $99.69269, and the average yield was 1.223 per cent.

To Inspect Jails

Victoria.—Gordon Slog, British Columbia attorney-general, is leaving on an inspection tour of jails in the interior of the province, where the lock-ups are reported overflowing due to scores of transients being arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police for alleged rod-riding to prairie harvest fields.

Will Develop Resources

Durban, South Africa.—General Jan Smuts declared that big developments in the exploitation of South Africa's mineral resources may be expected in the near future and the government, in which he is Premier Hertzog's chief lieutenant, is at present considering how best this can be effected.

West Uses Siamese Rice

Sales In Western Canada Increased As Result Of World's Grain Show

Montreal.—In Montreal on a business trip which will take him to England and Europe and possibly to Siam, Capt. A. J. M. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general for Siam in Canada with headquarters in Vancouver, said trade between Canada and Siam is showing an encouraging increase.

More Siamese rice is used in western Canada than from all other countries combined, he said. This trade has been largely created within the past two years and is mainly the result of Siam's success at the World Grain Conference and Show held in Regina in 1933. At the exhibition Siamese rice swept the boards against entries of all other countries, taking three first prizes and 11 of a total of 20 prizes in the rice classes.

PERSONNEL OF WHEAT BOARD IS ANNOUNCED

Ottawa.—Premier R. B. Bennett has announced the personnel of the new wheat board. The three members will be John I. McFarland, chairman; D. L. Smith, vice-chairman, and H. C. Grant. All come from Winnipeg.

Personnel of the advisory committee which will act with the Canadian wheat board, was announced as follows:

Robert McKee, Vancouver, representing the grain shippers; Sydney T. Smith, Winnipeg, representing the grain trade; Charles G. C. Short, Montreal, secretary of the Millers' Association and representing the milling interests; Paul Brett, Winnipeg; Lew Hutchinson, Duhamel, Alberta; Louis C. Brouillette, Winnipeg; and Brooks Catton, Hanley, Sask., all farmers and representing the producers.

Mr. McFarland, 62 years old, was born in Halton county, Ont., and has been identified with the grain trade in Western Canada ever since coming to the west in 1897. He started as a bookkeeper for a grain company in Edmonton.

Mr. McFarland later became directing head of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company. A supporter of the wheat pools, he offered to sell his company to the Alberta wheat pool when it was organized in 1923, but his price was not met.

After a few years in retirement, Mr. McFarland accepted the post of general manager of the central selling agencies of the wheat pools in November, 1930, but rejected all remuneration except expenses. First international wheat marketing difficulties were developing at that time.

When the Dominion government started its price stabilization efforts, Mr. McFarland took charge and operated through the pools' selling agency. He controlled up to 225,000,000 bushels of wheat. He remained in this post until his selection for the Dominion wheat board.

A Fall Session

Toronto.—As soon as possible after Dominion election day, October 14, a special session of the Ontario legislature will be held Premier Mitchell P. Hepburn announced.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY GOES MODERN

If and when Italy invades Ethiopia, the Italian soldiers will be faced by warriors who no longer use the weapons of their forefathers. Although one of the last nations to discard the old-type weapons, the Ethiopians today use implements of modern warfare. Above is a native soldier in the act of operating a trench mortar during manoeuvres at Addis Ababa.

SEEKS NEW LAURELS

Captain T. Campbell Black, co-winner with Scott, of the England-Australia Air Derby, has hopped off from Hatfield Aerodrome, England, on an attempted record flight to Cape Town and back. If successful, he will seek other records.

May Restrict Credits

Italy's Debt To British Exporters Reaches Large Sum

London.—British exporters hinted at a move to refuse further credits to Italy because of delayed payments believed caused by the expense of military preparations.

It was reported in financial circles that Italy's debt to British exporters is now £20,000,000 sterling (about $10,000,000), and the creditors may lead manufacturers in the curb of further credit.

Many exporters, especially coal shippers, have already shut down on sales to Italy until past payments are made, and this has shunted the Italian demand to Germany.

A proposal that British liberalize control of colonies, advanced by the News Chronicle in an editorial, is regarded as the most daring suggestion yet made in the Ethiopian crisis.

The Italian press "puts the question fairly," the paper says, in asking whether Britain is willing to join in a redistribution of colonial empires.

"The dominions are independent nations and can speak for themselves," says the editorial, "but what is Britain going to do about the empty spaces in her colonial empire?"

If we are going to put a fence around them to keep them for our own exploitation, we shall be faced sooner or later with war—a war in which we shall not have the right on our side."

B.C. Tourist Trade

Number Of Visitors To Coast Province Greater Than Last Year

Victoria.—An increased influx of tourist automobiles from other Canadian provinces to British Columbia brought 2,633 non-resident cars to the end of July this year, an increase of 150 over the total for the 12 months of 1934. The largest influx was from Alberta, with 1,942 cars, while from Saskatchewan there were 408, Manitoba 125, New Brunswick three, Nova Scotia four, Ontario 80, and Quebec 14.

Would Stabilize Rouble

Soviet Trying To Give It Fixed Purchasing Value

Moscow.—The Soviet government has set its shoulders to the task of giving its freak rouble a fixed purchasing value. To accomplish this it must make alterations that pierce to the roots of its economic structure, a process which cannot be completed in weeks, or even months.

First of all there must be a workable balance between wages and prices on the general market, at present far out of proportion. The government is attacking the problem on one hand and lowering prices on the other.

The average factory worker has a salary of 150 roubles a month. The proportion, if he were obliged to buy in the open market, would be the same as if a man making $150 a month in North America had to pay $12 a pound for butter and $3 a loaf for bread.

FEDERAL ELECTION DATE HAS BEEN SET FOR OCT. 14

Ottawa.—After effecting a partial reconstruction of his cabinet, involving the swearing in of four ministers, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett effected dissolution of the 17th parliament since confederation. He announced a general election would be held October 14. Writs will be returnable on Saturday, November 9.

The Earl of Bessborough, governor-general of Canada, made a special trip to the capital from Quebec where he is in summer residence, signed the dissolution order and numerous other orders-in-council, and left again for Quebec.

Chosen to fill gaps in the cabinet ranks created by appointments and retirements, the new ministers are: R. G. Geary, Toronto, became minister of justice, succeeding Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who was appointed chairman of the board of railway commissioners.

J. E. Lawson, Toronto, became minister of national revenue, succeeding Hon. R. C. Matthews, who is leaving public life.

William Ernest, Lunenburg, N.S., was appointed minister of fisheries, a post which has been vacant for some time.

Samuel Gobeil, Compton, Quebec, was made a minister without portfolio. With the appointments announced, party standing in the House of Commons at dissolution, with vacancies, was as follows: Conservatives, 115; Liberal, 88; Liberal-Progressives, three; Progressives, two; United Farmers of Alberta, nine; Labor, one; Independents, two and vacancies, 24.

It was necessary for the government to pass an order-in-council rescinding that passed some months ago fixing October 14 as Thanksgiving day and changing the national holiday to October 24. Originally it had been planned to hold the elections on September 30. Mr. Bennett said, but in order to complete the necessary preliminaries, it was then decided to delay polling until October 7.

Immediately the latter date was publicly discussed it was brought to the attention of the government that the new selection was the day of atonement, a religious holiday for those of the Jewish faith. To have polling on that date would have had the effect, Mr. Bennett said, of disfranchising a large number of electors.

Since the statute requires that general elections must be held on Monday, it was then necessary to select October 14. With respect to earlier dates which had been considered Mr. Bennett said it had been represented to the government that between September 15 and 20 large numbers of electors would be busily engaged in harvest operations.

Further material changes awaiting completion involve the portfolios of marine, post office and finance. It was understood that J. C. H. Dussault, prominent Montreal attorney, would become minister of marine.

Hon. Maurice Dupre, solicitor-general, is expected to become post-master-general, and his successor will probably be a Montreal lawyer whose name has not been divulged. The portfolio of finance may not be filled before the election. Hon. E. N. Rhodes, who has been minister of finance since 1932, and who was recently appointed to the senate, will remain in office for some time to complete important refunding operations he has in hand, Mr. Bennett said.

FAMOUS RADIO REGULATION 90 NOW AMENDED

Ottawa.—The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission's famous regulation 90 appeared in new form, redrafted to the satisfaction of Liberals and Conservatives and bearing the endorsement of the government. It has been a contentious issue between the two parties for a year or more.

As drafted originally by the commission, the regulation aroused a storm of protest by Liberal members. Its purpose was to prevent abuse, defamatory statements being broadcast, but it was worded so it was possible to interpret it as preventing anyone criticizing existing legislation.

The protests reached a peak in the house last June when Justice Lapointe, former minister of justice, proposed redrafting of the regulation.

Former Minister of Marine Alfred Duranleau promised to redraft the regulation and in a few days submitted it to the house in its new form. It was approved and is now sanctioned by the government.

The new regulation reads: "No broadcasting station may broadcast any speech, printed matter or program containing defamatory, libellous or obscene statements with regard to persons or institutions, or statements of a treasonable character or intended to promote change by unlawful means and which might lead to a breach of the peace, or any advertising matter containing false or deceptive statements."

Bay Post Activity

Arrival Of Steamship Wentworth At Churchill Opens Season

Churchill, Man.—Floodlights illuminate this northern port as unloading of the steamship Wentworth went on apace.

It is expected the ship, which opened the northern navigation season, will have completed unloading and loading by the middle of the week and be ready to start for Europe. Up and down the quay in the shadow of the giant terminal elevator, teams, trucks and donkey engine worked the Wentworth's 2,200-ton cargo.

A banquet was given by the Churchill Board of Trade in honor of Captain Graves.

Advance For French Farmers

Will Permit Holding Of Grain For Better Prices

Paris.—A measure to ease the financial situation of French wheat farmers and permit them to hold their stocks for advantageous prices has been announced by the ministry of agriculture.

It was stated the Bank of France henceforth will extend credits to the agricultural credit institutions, which will provide advances to farmers of 50 francs per quintal (about 3.7 bushels) at the time of harvest. The government believes the wheat producers will thus not be forced to make immediate sales of their entire stocks.

Ship Racing Car

Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird Sent To America

Southampton, Eng.—Sir Malcolm Campbell's mighty Bluebird, racing car with which he will make new assaults on the land speed record next month, was shipped to the United States aboard the Aquitania. One of Sir Malcolm's mechanics went along with the huge machine.

Sir Malcolm himself and his other mechanics will leave for New York this week.

Alberta Had Snow Storm

Edmonton.—One Edmonton home was struck by lightning, hail battered crops in the Millet district, snow fell at Pouce Coupe and Hudson Hope in the north and rain descended in torrents throughout central and northern Alberta districts as thunderstorms roared over a wide area one day last week.

Leave Not Granted

Calgary.—Harvest leave will not be granted the married unemployed men on city relief lists. They must stay in the city and work off arrears of work. If they stay in the city and work out their quota, the men receive $2.50 a day. Harvesters are averaging about $1.50 a day.
